

Cookies

---

COOKIES

Cookies are tiny bits of information (small files) which a website leaves behind on a device (say, a computer). The website instructs the web browser used to view websites (for example, Internet Explorer) to save these cookies on the device. Four types of cookies are used on our website <www.orangecapitalpartners.nl>:

1. Functional cookies:

Functional cookies are necessary to enable a website to operate. We use functional cookies to make navigation in the websites easier and to save certain user settings or preferences, so the use of the website can be optimised. Please see below for more information about these cookies.

2. Analytic cookies:

Further, we use analytic cookies to measure, with the help of third-party software such as Google Analytics, how many people visit our websites and what gets the most views on these websites. The statistical information collected is used to gear the website's content or online mailings to visitors' needs. Please see below for more information about these cookies.

How can I manage cookies and switch them off?

If users visit our website www.orangecapitalpartners.nl, they can set cookie preferences (except for the necessary cookies for which consent is not required). Users can also fully accept or decline cookies through browser settings. The internet browser's settings may be adjusted as well, so the browser will inform the user whenever a cookie is placed. Thus, we recommend that you consult the browser instructions or help screen to obtain more information about creating and changing browser settings (<http://www.browserchecker.nl/cookies-verwijderen#ie-cookies>).

If you use different devices to view <www.orangecapitalpartners.nl>, you must make sure that the cookie preferences are adjusted on each browser of each device. If cookies which we use are switched off, this may affect your user experience when you visit our website.

Modification of the Cookie Statement

We may modify this Cookie Statement from time to time by posting an updated version of it on the website. We therefore recommend that you visit the website regularly.

Dutch law will apply to this Cookie Statement. This Statement was drawn up in June 2018.